Panel Discussion with Landscape Designer Nancy Goslee Power,
Director of Operations John Sudolcan and Retired Director of Art
Sara Campbell

Moderated by Chief Curator Carol Togneri

In October 1999, the Museum marked the completion of an extensive interior renovation by the renowned architect Frank O. Gehry. At the same time, it revealed a dramatically reimagined sculpture garden created by landscape designer Nancy Goslee Power. Fifteen years later, Chief Curator Carol Togneri leads a lively discussion with Power and staff members Sara Campbell and John Sudolcan on the efforts behind the design, construction and maintenance of the Museum's celebrated sculpture garden. Following the discussion, join us in the garden for a champagne reception.
